Despite the unpleasant and changeable weather, a number of persons weekly visit Cedar Lawn to look upon the graves of their departed loved ones, and drink in the quite solitude that always hovers over the city of the dead. True, the many who are wont to visit the Lawn for pleasure only, or for a Sunday excursion out of the city, do not trouble themselves about going to Cedar Lawn at this seeming barren season of the year; but there are those who never tire in visiting the resting place—the last resting place—of their friends, and why should they forsake the little mounds of clay in mid-Winter more than in the Summer's sunshine?

Cedar Lawn is fast becoming a popular burial place. Each succeeding year of its history new and attractive features are added, and ere many years shall have passed it will doubtless be one of the most attractive cemeteries in America. One of the main features in improvements the “grading system” adopted by the company, by means of which the unsold lots are being reduced to proper and permanent grades of elevation, so that when sold the purchasers will not only reap the benefit of having their lots already graded, but will have a better opportunity of making suitable selections. This grading is being done in sections or plots, and each plot thus graded is finished before another is commenced. Nearly two thousands dollars were expended in this way last year by the company; and the Superintendent, Mr. Hutchins, thinks that nearly five thousand dollars more will be laid out in the same manner during the coming season—in fact the work has already commenced. Another striking improvement last year was the building of the new large and elegant office and other work done in connection with the “lodge” or gate house, which cost about eighteen hundred dollars, and money was well spent, as it is not only added new beauty to the place but was greatly needed. It is the intention of the company to erect a handsome iron fence around the entire cemetery as good as circumstances will permit, and it is thought that the work will be commenced before a great while—possibly next year—and when this substantial fence is once finished it will stand for ages.

Among the individual improvements in the Cemetery we will mention a few of the many that were completed during 1879. A handsome rustic granite cropping and monument erected on the lot of Isaac Vanderbeck, first sherriff of Passaic County. A massive granite cropping and monument by Mr. Peter Adams. An elegant

The Passaic County Historical Society Genealogy Club holds meetings 10:00 a.m. at Lambert Castle on the second Saturday of the month from September through May (unless otherwise specified).

Meeting dates are as follows:

March 14 – What’s New at the New Jersey State Archives, presented by Catherine Medich, Archivist, NJ State Archives.

April 11 – Who was Madeline’s Father, presented by Lisa Illowite.

May 9 – Owning New Jersey - Specific Individuals and how land ownership played an integral role in their lives, presented by author Joseph Grabas.

June 13 – Annual Genealogy Club Bus Trip. The day begins with a tour of the Gilded Age Mills Mansion in Staatsburgh, NY. Costumed interpreters will explain how the servants prepared for a busy weekend of entertaining and how one of the Mill’s daughter, like Downton Abbey’s Cora, married into the British aristocracy. Lunch will follow at the award winning waterfront restaurant Shadows on the Hudson. Before returning home we will tour the Federal period Boscobel Mansion built by a Loyalist who made his fortune by working as a British weaver, which will be of the finest in the whole cemetery. Mr. James Cooke has also prepared the foundation for a costly monument to be erected soon, and many other stones will doubtless be put up during the year.

More lots were sold last year then any previous year since the company was organized, which goes to show that the interest in Cedar Lawn burial lots is becoming more and more general.

horizontal granite monument erected by Dr. A. W. Rogers—very elaborate and substantial. A very pretty and costly rustic headstone and cross by Mr. George Smith. A very durable coping around the plot of Messrs Oates, Shaw and Moss, also elegant monuments on the portions belonging to the first named. A fine rustic cross and headstone are on Mr. William Strange’s lot; Messrs Doremus and Legar have constructed a very beautiful monument on their joint lot. A novel and durable device in the monument line is the composition shaft erected by R.J. Jenkins. This monument is metallic, being composed principally of zinc. There are many other monuments and tomb stones that were placed in the grounds last year, which together with numerous croppings, fences and lot decorations, have greatly improved and beautified the cemetery.

We would mention more names but space forbids. Among the monuments to be erected during the coming season will be a joint monument by Dr. Moss and Mr. James B. Edwards, to consists of a stately granite shaft with the figure of Hope carved at the top, which will be of the finest in the whole cemetery. Mr. James Cooke has also prepared the foundation for a costly monument to be erected soon, and many other stones will doubtless be put up during the year.
